DISCUSSING SYSTEMS OF DRAINAGE.

the New-York Roard of Health met yesterday mornin at the Everett House to discuss plans for the drainage of White Plains and Holly. The siphon system of drainage at the Everett House to discuss pairs for the distance was proposed for White Plains, this plan having been approved by the Board of Trustees of the village. Petitions and counter-petitions from the Holly townspeople were presented. George W. Rafter, of Rochester, representing the Holly Board of Trustees, favored a system of downward filtering through sand, according to the methods now in use in Lawrence, Medford and South Framington, Mass. Engineer E. Kutchling thought that this plan would be Engineer E. Kulchling thought that this plan would be wholly inadequate. A heated argument followed. THE TITLE TO LAND IN HUNTINGTON, W. VA. C. P. Huntington said yesterday, about the decision of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia affecting the title of the Central Land Company to valuable property in the city of Huntington: "I have heard of the decision, but have very little concern in the matter. The result only affects the land company, in which I have a small inferest. I should say that this was only one decision, and that perhaps it might be reversed. I don't think this is the end of the question. The value put upon the land in dispute is rather high at $500,000, for it cost somewhere around $10,000, and possibly may now be Highest of all in Leavening Power .- U. S. AN IMPORTANT PATENT DECISION.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the patent case of Pohl agt, the Anchor Brewing Com-The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the patent case of Poli act, the Anchor Brewing Company, was full of importance to all persons holding domestic letters patent for inventions also patented abroad. Where the foreign patent has been issued before the United States patent, the life of the domestic has been limited by that of the foreign patent. The delays in the issues of letters in this country, after an application has been filed, have frequently resulted in an invention having been patent is secured. The argument is still stronger when the invention has been made abroad and first patents diving been patent is secured. The argument is still stronger when the invention have should not have priority in date. The decision in that case will probably settle all uncertainty about the meaning of the Federal statute. Under it, moreover, the death of any foreign patent before the end of its term, which might be caused in many ways, might end the home patent. It is the common custom among American inventors to sell absolutely their rights in foreign countries. If the life of their patents depended upon the continuance of the foreign patents, inventors would never know whether their densestic patents had a certain value. It would rest wholly on the faithfulness and responsibility of the persons to whom the foreign rights were soid. The recent decision of the Supreme Court holds that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the "term" of the foreign patent governs and that the home patent for making good the losses of the clerks in favor of making good the losses of the clerks. of the persons to whom the foreign rights were seen to recent decision of the Supreme Court holds that the "term" return for advice given and consented to become a unrelated of the foreign patent governs and that the home patent survives to the end of the period, even if an accident personnently ends the life of the foreign patent. The decision manently ends the life of the foreign patent. The decision for Frederick W. Stevens, the secretary of the company for Frederick W. Stevens and $1.250 in the concern.

MILK AND CREAM IN CITIES.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE has issued a hand-some pamphlet "Extra" of co. lar some pamphlet "Extra" of 62 large pages, evoted entirely to the Sale of Milk and Cream in Cities, and published directly in the interest of the Milk Producers and Dairy Farmers of the country. It is entitled "Fight of the Dairy Farmers." The Tribune favors control of delivery in cities by the Producers themselves.

The "Extra" is intended to be a Reference Book, for the information of Milk Unions and Farmers generally. The pamphlet is large, well printed and comely, and contains:

Proceedings of the Milk Producers' Union at Goshen and New-York: Plans of Organization Submitted to the Sections. Descriptions of the Systems of Delivery in London, Boston, New-York and suburbs, Philadelphia; Cincinnati, Syracuse, Chicago and St. Louis. Constitutions of Various Unions of Milk Pro-

Laws Relating to Adulteration and Sale of Milk. Statistics of the business.

Other matter of interest to Farmers engaged n the production of Milk and Cream. Farmers in all the Agricultural States, especially those living in counties adjacent to great cities, will be deeply interested in this publication. As soon as W. P. Pierce, Agent for the "Union of the Milk Producers for the Supply of the New-York Market" heard of the intention of The Tribune to issue this pamphlet, he wrote to us as follows: "If the Agent of the Milk Union could have had a copy of this Reference Book, a year ago, five hundred dollars would have been well expended in its purchase." The "Extra" will certainly be of value to every Farmer. Price 25 Cents Per Copy, Postage Paid. THE TRIBUNE, New-York-
